[The committees on Harbors and Public Lands and Public Institutions were absent on official business.]

At twenty-six minutes before two o'clock the Speaker declared the House adjourned, to meet on Monday next at one o'clock P.M.

MONDAY, April 6, 1914.

Met according to adjournment, at one o'clock P.M.

Prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Opinion of the Attorney General.

The following communication was received from the Attorney General:—

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
DEPARTMENT OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL,
BOSTON, April 3, 1914.

To the Honorable House of Representatives,

GENTLEMEN:— You have requested my opinion upon the constitutionality of House Bill No. 1386, which amends chapter 12 of the Revised Laws by inserting after section 6 thereof the following sections:

Opinion of the Attorney General,— exemption of manufacturing establishments from taxation.

“The voters of any city or town may vote to exempt, or may authorize the city or town council or board of aldermen of such city or town to exempt from taxation for a period not exceeding ten years, such manufacturing property as may thereafter be located in said city or town in consequence of such exemption, and the land on which such property is located.”

“Property so exempted under the preceding section shall not, during such period of exemption, be liable to taxation while such property is used for the purposes for which it was so located.”

By the Constitution of the Commonwealth, part second, chapter I, section I, article IV, the General Court is empowered, —

“To impose and levy proportional and reasonable assessments, rates, and taxes, upon all the inhabitants of, and persons resident, and estates lying, within the said commonwealth; and also to impose and levy reasonable duties and excises upon any produce, goods, wares, merchandise, and commodities, whatsoever, brought into, produced, manufactured, or being within the same; . . .

And while the public charges of government, or any part thereof, shall be assessed on polls and estates, in the manner that has hitherto been practised, in order that such assessments may be made with equality, there shall be a valuation of estates within the commonwealth, taken anew once in every ten years at least, and as much oftener as the general court shall order.”

These are the only provisions of the Constitution directly affecting the subject of taxation. The Constitution contains certain provisions in regard to taxation for specific purposes, recognizing the importance of the public worship of God and of instruction in piety, religion and morality, and also in regard to the encouragement of literature and science, the diffusion of education among the people, and the promotion of general benevolence and public and private charity.

It is said that, —

“As taxation of the people may be imposed for these objects, property used for literary, educational, benevolent, charitable or scientific purposes may well be exempted from taxation. Such exemptions do not prevent the taxation of the people from being proportional and equal.”

Opinion of the Justices, 195 Mass. 607.

“The general purpose of the constitutional provision above quoted is to put the burdens of government equally upon all the people, in proportion to their ability to bear them.”

Opinion of the Justices, supra.

To exempt a new industry from taxation, as provided in this proposed bill, would in some, and probably in many instances, result in effect in taxing an old established industry to aid in establishing a competitor in business. The exemption of any property from taxation results in the disproportionate taxation of the other property in the same taxing district, and as the Constitution permits only proportional taxation, all property within the Commonwealth which is owned and held in such a way that it ought to be available to its owner to increase his ability and enlarge his duty in defraying the expenses of the government, must be subjected by law to the annual tax levy.

“The statute exempting property from taxation is unconstitutional unless it applies only to property already taxed in some other way or to property devoted to a public or semi-public use, or to property of insignificant value and of such a character that it may be supposed to be owned by every one alike.”

Nichols on Taxation in Massachusetts, § 39.

The result of my examination of the Constitution and the authorities under it is that I am of the opinion that this bill will, if enacted, be unconstitutional.

Very truly yours,

THOMAS J. BOYNTON,
Attorney-General.

The communication was read and was placed on file.
(House, No. 2431.)

Message from the Governor.

The following message was received from His Excellency the Governor: —

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, April 10, 1914.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

It is my duty to announce the death on Thursday, April 9, 1914, of former Governor Eben S. Draper.

During five years of his life he gave of his best energies and ability to the people of the State in the public service. Both as Lieutenant Governor and as Governor he served Massachusetts faithfully; and his entire life exemplifies in a marked degree the true character and ideals of Massachusetts citizenship.

By his independence of thought and speech, by his conscientious and unremitting devotion to the interests of Massachusetts as he saw them, he endeared himself to all her citizens.

His name is certain to find a permanent place among those of her sons who in life were conspicuous as foremost citizens.

I recommend that your honorable bodies take such action as may seem to you befitting this solemn event, and that will show Massachusetts' respect to his honored memory.

Message from the Governor.

The following message was received from His Excellency the Governor: —

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, April 15, 1914.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

I herewith return with my objections the bill entitled: "An Act to Establish a Board of Excise for the City of Chelsea." Veto, — Bill to establish a board of excise for the city of Chelsea.

This bill applies to a single executive department of a single city of the Commonwealth and undertakes to regulate therein an important detail of administration which is at present wholly controlled by the executive authority of said city, and so by her citizens themselves. The Commonwealth of Massachusetts has for years been committed to the policy of local control of the sale and regulation of intoxicating liquors, and has departed from it in only two instances. This bill contemplates a further departure from that policy and provides that the regulation of the liquor traffic in the city of Chelsea shall be vested in the executive department of the State government through a board directly appointed by the chief executive of the State with the advice and consent of the Council.

I fully sympathize with the desire of those citizens of any community who are seeking to improve conditions and eliminate the evils which are attendant upon the improper regulation of the liquor traffic; but I do not believe in the principle that the State, even to accomplish a desirable end, should interfere with the right of local self-government, or should undertake by special law to control a department thereof or to regulate the details of its administration.

I believe that as far as possible every local community should be left to govern itself and to determine for itself questions of administration and public policy which affect its interest. Local self-government can only be as good as the citizens make it. The remedy, when our municipalities are unfortunately suffering from poor administration, is not State control. If a city cannot determine for itself questions of administration relating to the liquor traffic, may we not also expect to have urged that the control of the police of this or some other city should be given over to the State? It is but another step to State control of the schools, the health and fire departments of municipalities. The tendency of creating local excise boards under State control will lead to such a central control by the State of the granting of licenses that it would necessitate the establishment of a State excise commission or some central board to perform this work. The wisdom or unwisdom of such a plan is not here at issue.

It may be argued that the referendum clause which is attached to this bill removes the objection that the proposed legislation is an interference with home rule and that the responsibility for the change from local to State control will rest finally upon the people of the community interested. It is a matter for commendation that this Legislature will not pass over the administration of the liquor traffic of this community to the State without its consent. It ought to be borne in mind, however, that the two cities in the Commonwealth which now have similar boards performing the functions and duties provided for in this bill have, without their consent, had this legislation forced upon them, and that in one case, namely, the city of Fall River, on three different occasions the voters have by substantial majorities asked that local control be restored. Yet the Legislature has refused to make any change. In view of this situation, it may well be argued that though the people now may be desirous, because of temporary evils, to have the power pass from local to State control, they may, once the change is made, experience very serious difficulty in having local control restored to them in the future, if they desire or even vote for it. Therefore another objection to this bill is that State control once assumed is likely to mean that the State will continue to hold this control, regardless of a change in public sentiment in later years.

There is no reason to believe that State control is already or is likely in the future to be a panacea for all the political evils attendant upon the granting of liquor licenses and the regulation of the liquor business.

But a new question of State policy arises in this bill, for the control of the licenses of this city is not to pass to the State unless a majority of the citizens at the next election request it.

The referendum provision, however, does not obviate the objection that this is an interference with the right of local self-government. The charter of Chelsea placed this department under the executive of the city, who is immediately responsible to the people and subject to their control, and is held responsible for an honest and efficient regulation and control of this business. The State must insist upon self-correction of municipal abuses. The State should not assume municipal functions merely when the people of a municipality have temporarily lost the capacity and desire for good government and self-government.

The declared reason for this kind of legislation is mistrust of her citizens. I do not share that sentiment. On the contrary I have not only a firm belief in their right to govern themselves, but full confidence in their capacity and ability to do so and in due time to stamp out of the body politic every corrupting influence and evil.

Danger lurks also in the system of State control of local liquor regulation. The establishment of State boards may mean that if scandals are in the future associated with the granting of local licenses or if the control of the saloons is abused for political purposes or the liquor laws are not enforced, resulting in detriment to the public welfare, the citizens of Chelsea will have no power, as now, to correct these evils, but must patiently submit to them while the Governor of the Commonwealth can only act in making such changes as he deems best, with the advice and consent of the executive council, which body may take an entirely different view from him and act from political rather than public spirited motives.

But a very much more serious question presents itself than that of placing the responsibility upon the people of this city for this change in their government. If Chelsea is to have a State controlled, appointed and licensed board, what is to prevent every one of the thirty three cities and indeed the towns of the Commonwealth from petitioning and by right demanding legislation to place themselves in the same position? The answer to this question leads to the most serious of all objections against this bill, namely, the tremendous burden the adoption of such a policy will place upon the executive department of the Commonwealth. Is the State executive department, through its appointees upon license boards in the several towns and cities, to become a clearing-house for the granting of licenses and the regulation of the liquor business?

As the chief executive, I protest against the executive department of the Commonwealth, which has serious and grave responsibilities and duties of a State-wide nature and character, being burdened with the internal management of certain executive functions of its towns and cities. My experience in the short time that I have been Governor of the Commonwealth has led me to appreciate the very great additional burden and responsibility that will be placed upon the executive department if State control of excise boards for local communities is extended. A Governor of the Commonwealth cannot shirk his responsibility to the local community by merely naming members of these boards; he must listen to the suggestions and complaints which come to him, for implied in the power of appointment is the responsibility of continuous supervision, the obtaining of full and complete information as to the character of service rendered, and investigation into all questions and acts which relate to the honesty, the integrity and political activities of said commissions.

Since the beginning of the current year several days of the Governor's time have been consumed considering questions relating to the liquor traffic in the cities of Boston and Fall River, the only cities having State boards; and when the time comes for making appointments to these boards it is fair to assume that very many more days will be necessarily consumed in hearing all parties who are interested in the regulation of this traffic in these cities. I repeat, if State control for local excise boards is extended, is it not going to result in the time and the energies of the Governor being diverted from the consideration of those important questions and policies which relate to every community in the Commonwealth and affect all the people, to consideration of the sometimes petty and partisan questions as well as the more serious evils, which are attendant upon the administration of the liquor law in some local communities? The executive chamber at the State House is not the place to even indirectly grant or revoke liquor licenses or regulate the liquor traffic in towns and cities.

While the honest demand of any local community for an improvement in the administration of one of the functions of its government should be carefully considered by the State, yet the rights of the whole State are greater than those of any local community, and the people of the Commonwealth have a right to insist upon preserving the undivided and unimpaired attention of their chief executive for the consideration of ever increasing State-wide problems.

The close dependence of all our people upon their State government and the great and immediate control it exercises over them and their liberty, property and welfare, make the duty imperative of keeping the executive branch of our government free from problems of local administration.

DAVID I. WALSH.

The report of the committee on Legal Affairs, leave to withdraw, on the petition (accompanied by bill, House, No. 664) of Edward O. Skelton and another relative to the misuse of the flag of the United States or of the Commonwealth, was accepted. Sent up for concurrence.

The engrossed Bill to establish a board of excise for the city of Chelsea (House, No. 174), having been returned by His Excellency the Governor with his objections thereto in writing (House, No. 2482), was considered; and after debate the previous question was ordered, on motion of Mr. Tufts of Waltham.

The question "Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of His Excellency the Governor?" was determined by yeas and nays, as required by the Constitution; and the roll having been called the bill failed to pass, less than two-thirds of the members having agreed to pass the same.

The vote was 24 yeas to 194 nays, as follows:—

The report of the committee on Street Railways, leave to withdraw, on the petition (accompanied by bill, House, No. 306) of Thomas A. Niland that the overcrowding of cars of street and elevated railway companies be prohibited, was considered.

Mr. Niland of Boston moved that the report be amended by the substitution of the Bill to prohibit the overcrowding of cars of street and elevated railway companies (House, No. 306). After debate, —

At half-past four o'clock the Speaker, under the provisions of an order previously adopted, declared the House adjourned, to meet to-morrow at eleven o'clock A.M.

WEDNESDAY, April 22, 1914.

Met according to adjournment, at eleven o'clock A.M.

Prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Message from the Governor.

The following message was received from His Excellency the Governor:—

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, April 22, 1914.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives.

Message from the Governor, — authority of the General Court to impose taxes.

I have already called to your attention the very unsatisfactory condition of our tax laws, and have urged upon you the necessity of either changing those laws, or providing for their stricter enforcement. Our tax laws are at present disproportionate, unjust and ineffective.

It has been generally assumed that the powers of the General Court under the present constitution are so limited that our system of taxation cannot be materially changed without an amendment to our State Constitution. If so, the community must submit to a delay of three years at least before any satisfactory remedy for our serious problems can be enacted into law. Many persons who have given this subject careful study believe that there is reason to question the validity of this assumption, and that the powers conferred upon the General Court by the organic law are considerably wider than has commonly been supposed.

This view as to your powers is confirmed, in part by the language used by the Supreme Judicial Court, in response to the inquiry addressed to the Court by your honorable body with reference to the constitutionality of the so-called three mill tax, 195 Mass. 607. In that opinion the Court stated that in giving their decision against the constitutionality of that proposed law they did not consider whether the whole or any part of the intangible property referred to in the question which you then propounded to the Court could be altogether exempted from taxation to avoid double taxation or for other justifiable reasons, and that they did not intimate that this could not be done. In part also from the fact that the constitutionality of several such duties or excises seems to be strongly indicated by the opinion of the Court delivered in response to your inquiry as to the validity of a transfer tax on certificates of stock, etc., 196 Mass. 603. If this is so, the legislature already possesses wholly adequate powers to remedy the present injustice and inequality, and to avert the injury to our prosperity which seems impending.

At the same time it is obviously undesirable to enact any laws which purport to alter the tax laws substantially in accordance with these suggestions without learning definitely in advance whether they lie within your powers. I therefore recommend that you submit to the Supreme Judicial Court the following questions with a view to determining as exactly as may be the limits of your authority under the taxation provisions of our constitution and for the purpose of finding out whether our present very serious situation may not be cured without the delays incident to the amendment of the organic law. To obtain the opinion of the Supreme Judicial Court on these questions will in no way commit the individual members of the legislature or the legislature as a body to any form of legislation, but will simply define the constitutional rights of the legislature and assist in formulating such legislation as may be deemed necessary to reform present inequalities in our tax system.

DAVID I. WALSH.

I.

Can the General Court exempt from the general property tax the following described property:—

(a) Stock of foreign corporations, the property, capital stock or franchises of which are subject to taxation where situated, or where the corporation is organized, or the properties of which are situated within foreign jurisdictions, or the franchises of which are taxed in this State in proportion to the business done here;

(b) Stock of foreign corporations with respect to which a valid excise, duty, or stamp tax has been levied by this Commonwealth;

(c) Bonds and notes secured by property which is subject to taxation where situated, or by property which is located within a foreign jurisdiction or the value of which is based upon such property;

(d) Bonds and notes with respect to which a valid excise, duty, or stamp tax has been levied by this Commonwealth?

II.

Can the General Court impose an excise upon the issue by corporations holding charters from this Commonwealth of bonds or notes, or upon the annual or periodic registration by an agent of the Commonwealth of such bonds or notes?

III.

Can the General Court grant to the owners or holders (a) of such stock or (b) of such bonds and notes as are referred to in the first question, the privilege of registering them with an agent of the Commonwealth, and of establishing the right to and securing an exemption of such stock, bonds, or notes from the general property tax, by filing with such agent satisfactory evidence of the existence or continuance of the conditions referred to in such question, and can it impose an excise upon such privilege either in the form of a single payment or of a periodic charge?

IV.

Can the General Court impose a duty or an excise on the income derived during any given period from the following classes of property, respectively: — (a) all personal property, (b) all intangible personal property, (c) bonds, notes and other debts, or (d) stock of corporations?

V.

Can the General Court impose a duty or an excise on the use of transferable paper writings as symbols or evidences (a) of ownership of shares of foreign corporations or of associations or (b) of the indebtedness of corporations, associations, or individuals?

VI.

Can the General Court impose a stamp duty or tax upon transferable paper writings such as stock certificates or bonds or notes, payable at the time of the issue thereof or periodically; and can it deny to the owners of such writings recognition of the nature and effect of such writings as property or as evidences of ownership, or the right to transfer or pledge the same or the property represented thereby unless bearing the required stamp?

The message (House, No. 2512) was read; and it was referred, on motion of Mr. Curtin of Brookline, to the committee on Taxation. Sent up for concurrence.

The Bill relative to wages of laborers in the employ of the Board of Prison Commissioners (Senate, No. 215, changed) (its title having been changed by the committee on Bills in the Third Reading) was read a third time and was passed to be engrossed, in concurrence.

The Bill to incorporate the West Millbury Cemetery Association (House, No. 2421) was read a third time.

The committee on Bills in the Third Reading reported recommending that the bill be amended by striking out section 2, and inserting in place thereof the following: "SECTION 2. Any person who at the time of his acceptance of this act as specified in section one owns any interest in said cemetery, individually or as trustee, or as tenant in common, shall be a member of said corporation so long as his interest therein continues; and any other person who hereafter desires to become a member of said corporation and who possesses a like interest in any lot in said cemetery may become a member of this corporation if accepted by a majority vote of the board of officers hereinafter named, after submitting to them his claim of right or interest in such lot. Any name on which any question of eligibility arises may be presented at any annual meeting and a majority vote of the members present and voting thereon shall determine such question. Every owner of a lot or interest in said cemetery shall by virtue of such ownership be eligible to membership in said corporation."

The amendment was adopted; and the bill, as amended, was passed to be engrossed. Sent up for concurrence.

The report of the committee on Street Railways, leave to withdraw, on the petition (accompanied by bill, House, No. 306) of Thomas A. Niland that the overcrowding of cars of street and elevated railway companies be prohibited, being the unfinished business of yesterday, was considered further.

After debate the amendment previously moved by Mr. Niland of Boston (that the report be amended by the substitution of the bill) was rejected, by a vote of 31 to 54.

Mr. Niland raised the point of order that a quorum was not present. A count of the House showed that 134 members were present.

The report was then accepted, in concurrence.

The Resolve to provide for amending the Constitution so as to prohibit sectarian legislation and the support of sectarian institutions from public funds (House, No. 1267) was considered, the question being on ordering it to a third reading.

Mr. Lomasney of Boston moved that the resolve be amended by striking out all after the words "religious society," in line 22, and inserting in place thereof the words "or any college, educational or other institution, school, infirmary, hospital or undertaking which is not a state, county, city or town institution established by statute, ordinance or by-law of the state, county, city, town, village or other civil division."

Point of order.

Mr. Bates of Boston raised the point of order that the amendment was not germane to the subject matter considered by the committee. The Speaker ruled as follows:—

"The petition calls for an amendment of the Constitution prohibiting sectarian legislation and the support of sectarian institutions from public funds. Under the amendment, institutions which are not in any respect sectarian would be brought within the prohibition of the constitutional amendment. The object of the rule that 'No motion or proposition on the subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment' is to prevent the passage of legislation of which interested parties have had no notice. A number of institutions in this Commonwealth would be affected by the proposed amendment. They have had no notice that legislation affecting them was pending and no opportunity to be heard. The amendment, therefore, comes within both the letter and spirit of the rule forbidding amendments and bills outside of the scope of the petition. The Chair, therefore, rules that the point of order is well taken."

After debate, at ten minutes before one o'clock the Speaker, under the provisions of an order previously adopted, declared a recess until two o'clock, at which hour the House resumed consideration of the resolve.

Mr. Greenwood of Everett raised the point of order that a quorum was not present. The Speaker declared the point of order well taken.

On motion of Mr. White of Newton the Sergeant-at-Arms was instructed to secure the attendance of a quorum.

On the appearance of a quorum, and after debate, the previous question was ordered, on motion of Mr. Smith of Somerville.

On the main question the yeas and nays were ordered, at the request of Mr. Lomasney of Boston; and the roll having been called the House refused to order the resolve to a third reading. The vote was 87 yeas to 134 nays, as follows:—

The report was then accepted. Sent up for concurrence.

The report of the committee on Public Health, leave to withdraw, on the petition (accompanied by bill, House, No. 687) of Joseph E. Wall for the abolition of sixth class licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors, was accepted. Sent up for concurrence.

At ten minutes before one o'clock the Speaker, under the provisions of an order previously adopted, declared a recess until two o'clock, at which hour the House reassembled.

The report of the joint committee on the Judiciary, leave to withdraw, on the petition (accompanied by bill, House, No. 216) of the Massachusetts State Branch of the American Federation of Labor that agreements between employees and persons engaged in agriculture and horticulture be made lawful and that the issuing injunctions be limited, was considered.

Ruling by the Speaker.

On the point of order previously raised by Mr. Webster of Northfield the Speaker ruled as follows:—

“Although the petition is obscure and indefinitely worded, when further interpreted by the bill which accompanies it, it evidently asks for legislation to make lawful certain agreements between employees and laborers and to limit the issuing of injunctions in certain cases. It also includes in the class of employees and laborers persons engaged in agriculture and horticulture. The bill against which the point of order was raised omits any reference to persons engaged in agriculture or horticulture, but makes lawful certain agreements between employees and laborers and limits the issuing of injunction in disputes concerning terms or conditions of employment. The bill is therefore within the scope of the petition, and the Chair rules the point of order not well taken."

Mr. Doyle of Boston raised the point of order that a quorum was not present. The Speaker declared the point of order well taken.

On motion of Mr. Cox of Boston the Sergeant-at-Arms was instructed to secure the attendance of a quorum.

Mr. Ellis of Newton moved that the roll be called to ascertain if a quorum was present; which motion was adopted.

Mr. Webster of Boxford moved that a supplementary list, containing the names of the absent members of the House, be printed in the Journal; which motion, after debate, was negatived.

The Chair then stated that a quorum was present.

Mr. Caro of Chelsea moved that the vote be reconsidered by which the House voted that the roll be called; which motion was adopted. The question recurring on the motion, it was negatived.

After debate Mr. Beck of Chelsea moved the previous question; which motion, after debate, was adopted, by a vote of 88 to 35.

The yeas and nays were then ordered, at the request of Mr. Webster of Northfield; and the roll having been called the pending amendment (that the report be amended by the substitution of a bill printed as House, No. 2513) was adopted, by a vote of 130 yeas to 87 nays, as follows:—

111 yeas; 104 nays.

The Bill to provide for widening and deepening the channel in the Mystic river (House, No. 2410, amended) was considered, the question being on passing it to be engrossed.

Mr. Smith of Boston moved that the bill be amended, in section 2, by striking out, in lines 2 and 3, the words "expended from the loan provided by section seventeen of chapter seven hundred and forty-eight of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and eleven" (previously inserted by amendment by the House), and inserting in place thereof the words "allowed from the treasury of the Commonwealth from the ordinary revenue for the purpose of this act" (previously stricken out by amendment by the House).

After debate the amendment was rejected, by a vote of 13 to 35; and the bill was passed to be engrossed. Sent up for concurrence. Rule 15 was suspended, on motion of Mr. Tague of Boston.

The report of the committee on Education, leave to withdraw, on the petition (accompanied by bill, House,

No. 1402) of Nathan A. Tufts relative to the issuance of employment certificates to school children, was considered.

Mr. Tufts of Waltham moved that the report be amended by the substitution of a Bill relative to the issuance of employment certificates to children (House, No. 2558).

After debate, the previous question having been ordered, on motion of Mr. Washburn of Worcester, the amendment was adopted.

The bill was then read; and it was placed in the orders of the day for to-morrow for a second reading.

The report of the committee on Mercantile Affairs, leave to withdraw, on the petition (accompanied by bill, House, No. 400) of Maurice Caro that the sale of tickets to places of public amusement be regulated, was considered.

Mr. Caro of Chelsea moved that the report be amended by the substitution of the Bill relative to the sale of tickets of admission to places of public amusement (House, No. 400).

After debate the question was put on the amendment, and 31 members voted in the affirmative and 36 in the negative.

Mr. Caro raised the point of order that a quorum was not present. A count of the House showed that 107 members were present.

On motion of Mr. Washburn of Worcester the Sergeant-at-Arms was instructed to secure the attendance of a quorum.

Point of order.

On the appearance of a quorum, and after debate, Mr. Robinson of Boston raised the point of order that the amendment was not in order, for the reason that a measure substantially the same had been embodied in a report of the joint committee on the Judiciary, leave to withdraw, on a petition (accompanied by bill, House, No. 834), which had been accepted by the House, and that it was not in order to move as an amendment a measure which had been finally rejected by the House.

Message from the Governor.

The following message was received from His Excellency the Governor:—

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, May 8, 1914.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives :

Message from the Governor,
— reorganization of the State Board of Health.

In my inaugural address I emphasized the fact that in the multitude of legislative matters which come before the State Legislature, there are none of greater significance or importance than those which are planned with the purpose of protecting the public health, for upon a sound, healthful and vigorous population depend in the greatest measure the prosperity, safety and welfare of the Commonwealth.

There is no greater service than the prevention of sickness and premature death, with all its concomitant sorrows and miseries. The human body is the most wonderful machine that is known and the maintenance of this delicate mechanism in full vigor, for its allotted time, is the end for which health officers, physicians, social workers and others are striving. The government should lead in this great work.

Most legislation is directed towards objects which interest only a certain percentage of the population of the State. Public health legislation is necessarily of interest to every man, woman and child in the Commonwealth. Even recognizing the wonderful advance in health conservation which has taken place in the past few decades, it is still obvious that preventable disease is the main cause of death. Massachusetts may well point with pride to its early recognition of the public health problems and the creation, in consequence, of a State Board of Health.

Without detracting from the past accomplishments of the State Board of Health, it has become obvious to many, including those who are in a position to recognize the State Board of Health's service, that the Board does not possess the necessary organization to cope with the present health problems of the Commonwealth. In a word it is in some ways seriously handicapped in being able to reach the highest efficiency that the people have reason to expect of a department of health.

In recent years tremendous strides have been made in public health work, yet Massachusetts is conducting this work under administrative machinery provided many years ago.

Other States have recognized defects similar to our own, and as a result we note the passage of acts in various States reorganizing the State health service along the most modern and effective lines.

Massachusetts must not lag in the forward march and in order that the citizens of the Commonwealth might have the greatest possible protection I have deemed it my highest duty to suggest a reorganization of the public health activities of the State.

The time has come in Massachusetts for a salaried Health Commissioner to superintend that work of the government which deals with public health administration. He should be a man who will devote his whole time, strength and energy to this problem, and should be a man "skilled in science and experienced in public health administration."

The accompanying bill is designed to give Massachusetts a most effective type of public health organization. It has been drawn up after consultation with experts from the United States Public Health Service, the Commissioner of Health of New York State, and many others, qualified by experience and training, who have given freely of their advice, in order that the proposed legislation might represent the very best thought in this vital matter. This proposed legislation calls for the abolition of the State Board of Health and requires the appointment of a State Health Commissioner who shall be directly responsible to the Governor. A Public Health Council is created, but following out modern beliefs in effective administrative work, this council has no administrative or executive powers.

Provision is also made in this bill that the district health officers be required to give their entire services to the Commonwealth and that the present unsatisfactory arrangement be discontinued, — namely, health officers half-paid and expected merely to give such time as they choose in their respective districts to this work.

Your especial attention is invited to the creation of three new divisions, one dealing with infant and child hygiene, the second with communicable diseases, and the third an administrative department for educational and publicity work. The need for special activities in the prevention of infant mortality is evidenced by the fact that in Massachusetts in 1912 out of a total of 52,250 deaths, 12,273 were under two years of age. It is well recognized that many of these infant deaths are preventable, and an active division of the State Department of Health should do much to cut down this enormous wastage of life.

Similarly the tuberculosis problem is of great magnitude, even though note-worthy decreases in its mortality rate have been apparent in the past; 5,151 citizens of Massachusetts succumbed to this disease alone in 1912, or almost 10% of the total mortality.

Modern sanitary science recognizes that a great deal of preventable disease cannot be wiped out by the introduction of water purification plants or the enforcement of milk pasteurization, or similar public acts, but requires the individual co-operation of all persons. This makes it necessary that proper publicity work, especially by the State co-operating with local health authorities, be undertaken to bring before the people the simple facts, which they must know if they are to avoid contracting an unnecessary sickness. This important function is required in the proposed reorganization.

There should be no half measures in the fight for better public health conditions. This is a clear case where the best is none too good and it is believed that the passage of this bill will make it possible for Massachusetts to adopt all the latest modern methods of health conservation and possess the strongest and best Health Department in the country. I know of no greater service that this Legislature can render to those who have delegated to it the power to contribute to their happiness and welfare through the agencies and activities of government, than by adopting the proposed legislation.

Neither partisanship nor personal considerations can be permitted to move our minds when the well-being, the health, the very life of our people are at stake.

DAVID I. WALSH.

The message was read; and, on motion of Mr. Bigelow of Framingham, it was referred, with the accompanying bill, to the committee on Public Health. (House, No. 2590.) Sent up for concurrence.

Mr. Gilbride of Lowell moved that the Resolutions relative to the purchase of bunting for the manufacture of the United States flag (House, No. 2580) be discharged from the orders of the day, under a suspension of the rule; which motion, after debate, was adopted.

After debate on the question on suspending the 12th joint rule, the yeas and nays were ordered, at the request of Mr. Martin of North Attleborough; and the roll having been called the rule was suspended, by a vote of 182 yeas to 13 nays, as follows: —

This act shall be submitted to the voters of the Commonwealth at the annual state election in the current year, and shall take effect upon its acceptance by a majority of the voters voting thereon. The act shall be submitted in the form of the following question to be placed upon the official ballot: 'Shall the veterans of the Spanish war and the Philippine insurrection be preferred in all examinations for appointments under the civil service laws by receiving a credit of five per cent in addition to the marks which they receive at such examinations?'"

After debate the previous question was moved by Mr. Wright of Rowe.

At ten minutes before one o'clock the Speaker, under the provisions of an order previously adopted, declared a recess until two o'clock, at which hour the House resumed consideration of the bill.

[The committee on Roads and Bridges was absent on official business.]

The Bill to punish and prevent the maintenance of places of prostitution and lewdness (House, No. 2511) was considered, the main question being on ordering it to a third reading.

After debate the amendment previously moved by Mr. Catheron of Beverly (that the bill be amended by the substitution of a bill printed as House, No. 2583) was adopted; and the bill, as thus amended, was ordered to a third reading.

The report of the committee on Legal Affairs, leave to withdraw, on the petition (accompanied by bill, House, No. 843) of John L. Donovan and others relative to the purchase and carrying of firearms and to the licenses therefor, was considered.

Ruling by the Speaker.

The Speaker ruled that the point of order previously raised by Mr. Morse of Lancaster (that the amendment previously moved by Mr. Haines of Medford was not in order, for the reason that a measure substantially the same had been embodied in a report which had been accepted by the House) was not well taken, as the pending amendment appeared to be substantially different from the measure previously acted upon.

After debate, the previous question having been ordered, on motion of Mr. Webster of Northfield, the amendment was adopted, by a vote of 60 to 22.

Mr. Cox of Boston raised the point of order that a quorum was not present. A count of the House showed that 121 members were present.

The bill was then read, and it was placed in the orders of the day for to-morrow for a second reading.

The Bill relative to the holding of a convention for the purpose of revising or altering the Constitution of the Commonwealth (House, No. 2292) was considered; and, pending the question on the rejection of the bill, as recommended by the committee on Ways and Means, the further consideration thereof was postponed until Thursday next, second in the orders of the day, on motion of Mr. White of Newton.

The Bill to provide for the reconstruction of Concord avenue in the city of Cambridge (House, No. 2532) was considered; and, pending the question on the rejection of the bill, as recommended by the committee on Ways and Means, the further consideration thereof was postponed, on motion of Mr. Glynn of Cambridge, until after the disposition of the remaining matters in the orders of the day.

The Bill to establish the salaries of the matrons at the Reformatory for Women and to place them under the civil service laws (House, No. 2533) was considered; and after debate the bill was rejected, as recommended by the committee on Ways and Means, by a vote of 63 to 30.

The Bill to authorize the use of armories for public purposes (House, No. 2536) was read a second time.

Mr. Chamberlain of Springfield moved that the bill be amended by inserting after section 1 the following new section: "SECTION 2. Cities and towns may appropriate money to pay for the use of an armory for any municipal dance or for other entertainment or exhibition given under the auspices or under the authority of the mayor or other governing body of a city or selectmen of a town."

After debate the amendment was adopted; and the bill, as amended, was ordered to a third reading.

The Bill to authorize labor on the Lord's day in household gardens (House, No. 219, amended) was read a third time.

After debate the previous question was ordered, on motion of Mr. Kennard of Somerville.

The yeas and nays were then ordered, at the request of Mr. Beck of Chelsea; and the roll having been called the bill was passed to be engrossed. Sent up for concurrence.

The vote was 99 yeas to 90 nays, as follows:—

Opinion of the Attorney General.

The following communication was received from the Attorney General:—

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
DEPARTMENT OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL,
BOSTON, May 26, 1914.

To the House of Representatives, State House.

Opinion of the Attorney
General,—
Boston Transit Commission.

Gentlemen:— You have requested my opinion as to the constitutionality of Senate Bill No. 102, entitled "An Act to extend the Term of Office and to define the Duties of the members of the Boston Transit Commission." Its provisions are as follows:

"SECTION 1. The term of office of the members of the Boston transit commission is hereby extended for three years from the first day of July in the year nineteen hundred and fourteen.

SECTION 2. The powers, duties and compensation of said commission during said term of three years shall be the same as are specified in chapter five hundred and forty-eight of the acts of the year eighteen hundred and ninety-four and in acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto, except as hereinafter provided. Any vacancy in said commission shall be filled in the manner provided in said chapter five hundred and forty-eight."

It is suggested that the provisions of this bill, if enacted, may interfere with the executive functions of the Governor.

The Governor is the supreme executive magistrate of the Commonwealth. Mass. Const., c. II, § I, art. I. But the power to make appointments is not necessarily a function of or an appurtenant to the executive office. In the constitutions of the States of the Union there appears to be no distinct rule as to the distribution of authority to make appointments to office. Some States confer upon the executive a much larger measure of power in this respect than others. The Constitution of this Commonwealth provides that all judicial officers shall be nominated and appointed by the Governor by and with the advice and consent of the Council. Mass. Const., c. II, § I, art. IX. The fourth amendment to the Constitution provides that notaries public shall be appointed by the Governor in the same manner as judicial officers are appointed. The Governor is also given power under certain circumstances to make appointments to fill vacancies in certain executive offices.

The Constitution confers upon the Legislature large powers in the matter of appointments to civil office. By article IV of section I of chapter I of the Constitution full power and authority are given and granted to the General Court —

“ . . . to name and settle annually, or provide by fixed laws for the naming and settling, all civil officers within the said commonwealth, the election and constitution of whom are not hereafter in this form of government otherwise provided for.”

Since the adoption of the Constitution the Legislature has in repeated instances enacted laws changing the term or tenure of a civil office. Several of these acts in litigation have been carried to the Supreme Judicial Court, and the constitutionality of legislation of this kind has always been sustained.

In the case of Taft v. Adams, 3 Gray, 126, Chief Justice Shaw said:

“Where an office is created by law, and one not contemplated, nor its tenure declared by the constitution, but created by law solely for the public benefit, it may be regulated, limited, enlarged or terminated by law, as public exigency or policy may require.”

See also,

Opinion of the Justices, 117 Mass. 603, 604.

Donaghy v. Macy, 167 Mass. 178.

Opinion of the Justices, 165 Mass. 599.

In the case of Barnes v. Mayor of Chicopee, a case in which the plaintiff Barnes sought to be reinstated in the office of chief of police of the city of Chicopee, from which office he claimed to have been wrongfully removed, Chief Justice Rugg said:

"It is within the power of the Legislature to lengthen or shorten the tenure of such an office or to place its incumbents under operation of the civil service law."

Barnes v. Mayor of Chicopee, 213 Mass. 1.

In a New York case it was said that, —

"Where an office is created by statute it is wholly within the control of the Legislature. The term, the mode of appointment and the compensation may be altered at pleasure."

Connor v. City of New York, 2 Sandford, 355.

This case was affirmed by the Court of Appeals of the State of New York, 1 Selden, 285.

While these cases may not be precisely in point, they indicate the trend of judicial opinion upon questions very similar in character to the one presented by this bill.

The offices of the members of the Boston Transit Commission are not among those named in the Constitution but fall within the class of civil officers specified in article IV of section I of chapter I of the Constitution, above quoted. This commission was created, not by the Constitution itself but by act of the Legislature.

The result of my examination of this question and of the authorities is that this bill, if enacted, will not, in my opinion, interfere with any constitutional right or function of the Governor.

Very truly yours,

THOMAS J. BOYNTON,
Attorney-General.

The opinion was read and was placed on file (House, No. 2669).

The report of the committee on Metropolitan Affairs, leave to withdraw, on the petition (accompanied by bill, House, No. 1324) of John J. Lydon relative to the mayor and city council of the city of Boston, was considered.

TUESDAY, MAY 26, 1914.

Mr. Lydon of Boston moved that the report be amended by the substitution of the Bill relative to the election and term of office of the mayor of the city of Boston (House, No. 1324). After debate, —

At half-past four o'clock the Speaker, under the provisions of an order previously adopted, declared the House adjourned, to meet to-morrow at eleven o'clock A.M.

WEDNESDAY, May 27, 1914.

Met according to adjournment, at eleven o'clock A.M.
Prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Message from the Governor.

The following message from His Excellency the Governor was filed in the office of the Clerk after adjournment yesterday:—

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, May 26, 1914.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

Veto,—
Bill relative to the employment of Reuben J.
Phillips by the Metropolitan Park Commission.

I herewith return without my approval An Act Relative to the Employment of Reuben J. Phillips by the Metropolitan Park Commission.

This act "authorizes and directs" the Metropolitan Park Commission to employ as patrolman in the police department of said commission one Reuben J. Phillips who was discharged in the year nineteen hundred and thirteen while serving as sergeant. It seeks arbitrarily to return to the Metropolitan Police force without the approval and against the protest of the Metropolitan Park Commission an officer whom they have adjudicated to be unfit for duties as a police officer.

In my opinion, legislation of the character of this act is indefensible unless it is based upon proof that the commission which discharges this man from the public service acted through malice. No claim is made that this commission entertained any such feeling towards Phillips. To legislate back into the public service employees who are discharged after fair hearing by department heads charged with the control and responsibility of maintaining discipline in an organization such as the Metropolitan Park Police is subversive of the authority which the commission must possess in order to maintain that discipline and control which is essential for the protection of life and property.

While I share in the natural feeling of sympathy that has undoubtedly influenced the legislature in acting in this matter because of Phillips' service in the United States Army, I feel that a great principle is at issue in this act. Without discussing in detail the facts, it seems to me that the issue sought to be tried out and settled here is one clearly within the jurisdiction and power of the Metropolitan Park Commission and that its findings should be respected, and must, in the light of the principle I have emphasized, be accepted.

If this bill provided that the board should be authorized to re-employ Phillips and was in its nature permissive legislation, something might be said in its support, but it distinctly directs and orders the Metropolitan Park Commission to take action which the board itself, with full authority and full responsibility in the premises, regards as inimical to the discipline and well being of its police department.

It does not seem to me that legislation of this kind can be fairly construed in any other light than a vote of censure of the Metropolitan Park Commission. For the Legislature to set aside the commission's finding and judgment in this matter is equivalent to declaring a lack of confidence in its ability and discretion to perform one of the important duties of this commission, — namely, the proper management and discipline of the Metropolitan Police force.

Legislation of this kind, if encouraged, is likely to lead to serious injustices to other members of the police force, become a dangerous and demoralizing precedent and a menace to the public safety.

DAVID I. WALSH.

The message (House, No. 2670) was read; and, pending the question "Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of His Excellency the Governor?" the further consideration thereof was postponed until to-morrow, on motion of Mr. Cox of Boston.

The Bill to extend the term of office and to define the duties of the members of the Boston Transit Commission (Senate, No. 102) was considered.

Mr. McInerney of Boston moved that the bill be amended, in section 2, by striking out, in lines 6 and 7, the words "as hereinafter provided," and inserting in place thereof the words "that said members shall devote all of their time to the duties of their office."

Mr. Glynn of Cambridge moved that the bill be amended by adding at the end of section 1 the words "and said commissioners shall be appointed as follows: to give all of their time to the office, three by the Governor of the Commonwealth, and two by the mayor of the city of Boston, who shall serve for three years."

Mr. Hays of Boston moved the previous question.

Point of order.

Mr. Bothfeld of Newton raised the point of order that the latter amendment was not germane.

The Speaker ruled that the bill, introduced on leave, and considered by the committee, was an act to extend the term of office and to define the duties of the members of the Boston Transit Commission. The amendment under consideration practically amounts to an abolition of the present board, and the appointment of a new one. The Chair therefore declared the point of order well taken.

Mr. McInerney asked for a count of the House to ascertain if a quorum was present. A count showed that 140 members were present.

After further debate the previous question was ordered.

The amendment moved by Mr. McInerney was rejected, by a vote of 14 to 64.

On the main question the yeas and nays were ordered, at the request of Mr. McInerney; and the roll having been called the bill was passed to be engrossed, in concurrence, by a vote of 170 yeas to 40 nays, as follows:—

The resolve and article of amendment were as follows:—

Resolved, That it is expedient to alter the constitution of the commonwealth by the adoption of the subjoined article of amendment; and that the said article, being agreed to by a majority of the senators and two thirds of the members of the house of representatives present and voting thereon, be entered on the journals of both houses, with the yeas and nays taken thereon, and be referred to the general court next to be chosen; and that the said article be published, to the end that if agreed to in the manner provided by the constitution, by the general court next to be chosen, it may be submitted to the people for their approval and ratification in order that it may become a part of the constitution of the commonwealth.

ARTICLE OF AMENDMENT.

The general court shall have power to authorize the commonwealth to take land and to hold, improve, subdivide, build upon and sell the same, for the purpose of relieving congestion of population and providing homes for citizens: provided, however, that this amendment shall not be deemed to authorize the sale of such land or buildings at less than the cost thereof.

The Bill to promote the building of the Boston, Quincy and Fall River Bicycle Railway (House, No. 745) was considered; and, pending the question on the rejection of the bill, as recommended by the committee on Ways and Means, the further consideration thereof was postponed until Tuesday next, on motion of Mr. Dahlborg of Brockton.

The Resolve to provide for an amendment of the Constitution relative to taking of land by right of eminent domain (Senate, No. 578) was read a second time.

Mr. Bates of Boston moved that the resolve be referred to the next General Court.

Mr. Abbott of Haverhill moved that the further consideration of the resolve be postponed until Tuesday next; which motion, after debate, was adopted, by a vote of 59 to 20.

The Bill relative to firearms and other weapons (House, No. 843) was read a third time; and after debate it was passed to be engrossed, by a vote of 58 to 55.

At two minutes before one o'clock, on motion of Mr. Tufts of Waltham, the House adjourned, to meet on Monday next at one o'clock P.M.

MONDAY, June 1, 1914.

Met according to adjournment, at one o'clock P.M.

Prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Message from the Governor.

The following message was received from His Excellency the Governor: —

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, June 1, 1914.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives :

In my inaugural address, I pointed out to the Legislature that our critical railroad situation required at least two reforms.

Message from the Governor,
— Boston and
Maine
Railroad.

First, the control which, during the last seven years, the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad has exercised over the Boston and Maine Railroad through the Boston Railroad Holding Company should be abolished. The passing of this independent management into the hands of the New Haven Railroad accelerated the decline of the Boston and Maine and events during the period of its control by the New Haven Railroad have indicated beyond question that this union was unfortunate for both railroads and for New England.

Second, the financial structure of the Boston and Maine itself should be reorganized by the consolidation of the component parts now held together under various forms of leases. The separation of the two railroads will not alone re-establish the Boston and Maine upon a sound financial basis or render it once more efficient for public service. The Boston and Maine corporation is too thin an uppercrust upon a maze of leased lines that constitute the railroad system of which the stockholders of the Boston and Maine have only one-fifth interest. Upon this small equity is pyramided all the strain of hard times and unfortunate conditions which make it a most uninviting investment.

The first step toward a new and better condition must be the divorce of control between the Boston and Maine and the New Haven Railroads. In my judgment, this severance of their relations can be accomplished most completely and quickly and with the least disturbance to business by the method which has been proposed by the national government and assented to by the New Haven Railroad.

It is only fair to say that representatives of the national government have consulted the Governor through the various stages of this long, intricate and somewhat difficult process of adjustment by which the relations between the New Haven and the Boston and Maine are about to be made to conform with the views which the national government entertains concerning the anti-trust law.

The representatives of the New Haven Railroad at first yielding reluctantly to the pressure of the national government to adjust its relations with the Boston and Maine to the law, today are convinced that not only is the separation necessary but it is also desirable for business and financial reasons.

I submit, therefore, for your consideration the form of agreement providing for this separation and request the enactment of enabling legislation which will make effective this agreement subject to such conditions and protected by such safeguards as in your wisdom you may deem advisable. The form which this adjustment has taken requires the consent of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts because it contemplates the transfer of the stock of the Boston Railroad Holding Company, now in the possession of the New Haven Railroad, to certain persons named as liquidators in a trust agreement, and the sale of the stock of the Boston and Maine Railroad now held by the Boston Railroad Holding Company. Under the railroad holding company act the transfer and sale of these stocks must receive the assent of the Commonwealth.

The agreement provides for the appointment of five representative men called liquidators to whom shall be transferred the stock in the Boston Railroad Holding Company now held by the New Haven and whose duty it shall be to liquidate or sell the stock of the Boston and Maine Railroad held by the Boston Railroad Holding Company. When this transfer is made, the divorce between the New Haven Railroad and the Boston and Maine Railroad will be final and complete because the New Haven will then have transferred to those liquidators the stock in the Boston Railroad Holding Company by which the New Haven has exercised its control over the Boston and Maine.

These liquidators are obliged under the agreement within two and one half years to sell the stock of the Boston and Maine now owned by the Railroad Holding Company to such persons as they deem proper, provided that such shares "shall not be offered to the stockholders of the New Haven Company as a class, either in proportion to their stockholding, or otherwise, nor be sold to the New Haven Company or to any person or persons, corporation or corporations, to be held in its interest directly or indirectly, or so as to re-establish in any manner the combination and control" which it is the purpose of this agreement to terminate.

The liquidators are also charged with the duty of selecting a board of directors for the Boston and Maine whose obligation it shall be to manage that railroad solely in its own independent interests and without reference to the New Haven Railroad; they are also required in the agreement to manage the road "with due regard to the public interest," and "shall accord substantial representation to minority stockholders of the Boston and Maine."

It is not expressly provided in the agreement that the liquidators shall remove from the directorate of the Boston and Maine Railroad those directors who were parties to the mistakes and mismanagement of that railroad but the whole spirit of the readjustment and the general obligation upon the liquidators to manage the Boston and Maine Railroad with a view solely to its welfare and with due regard to the public interest implies an obligation to free the road from the influence of men that has been harmful in the past. We may expect that the liquidators will thoroughly redeem the board of directors of the Boston and Maine Railroad from those whose influence has been injurious as the first step to the restoration of public confidence and of sound railroad management. Thus the independence of the Boston and Maine Railroad, which ought never to have been lost, will be firmly re-established.

I also call your attention to the fact that the general agreement made by the national government with the

New Haven Railroad has resulted in the cancellation of the partnership agreement for the separation of the Boston and Albany by the New York Central and the New Haven roads, and also provides for the freedom of all steamship lines out of Boston from control or domination by the New Haven, thus insuring competition by railroads from Boston west to the Hudson river and by sea to New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and various other points.

I approve, in the main, the provisions of this agreement and recommend such enabling legislation as is necessary to carry it into effect. But I call your attention to the fact that under the Boston Railroad Holding Company act, Massachusetts made certain reservations of control over the stock of that company that may be of value and ought not to be surrendered unless you are satisfied that rights of equal value have been preserved to the Commonwealth.

Under the agreement submitted herewith, it is provided that the Commonwealth may at any time before the sale of the stock of the Boston and Maine by the Railroad Holding Company, purchase this stock and assume thereby all the rights now enjoyed by the Holding Company. In several respects, the right of the Commonwealth to acquire the stock of the Holding Company, reserved in the act creating the Holding Company, is much more practicable in the agreement than in the original act. Under the original act the Commonwealth must give a year's notice before it can acquire the stock, — (a) of the holding company only. The state has no right under the holding company act to take the stock of the Boston and Maine. But under the agreement the Commonwealth may at any time during the life of the agreement take the stock, — (b) either of the holding company or of the Boston and Maine without notice. Under the holding company act the Commonwealth can have the price of the stock determined only by recourse to the courts for assessment, while under the agreement the Commonwealth will have the right to have the price of the stock fixed either by agreement, as all other purchasers may, with the liquidators, or have the value of the stock assessed by the courts, — which right alone the Commonwealth possesses.

I call your attention, however, to the fact that under this agreement the liquidators may sell or give an option on this stock to any person or persons subject to the limitation as to their connection with the New Haven Railroad hereinbefore mentioned. The sale or the giving of an option by the liquidators might thus at any time prevent the Commonwealth from acquiring this stock. I recommend, therefore, as a further safeguard to the rights of the Commonwealth that no option be given or sale be had on this stock until the people of the Commonwealth have a reasonable opportunity to decide whether or not the Commonwealth ought to purchase the stock of an interstate road with all the rights and responsibilities which would accrue and be assumed by such a purchase. Without expressing any opinion at this time concerning the wisdom of assuming on the part of the Commonwealth the responsibilities of the control of an interstate railroad in the Boston and Maine's present situation, I believe, nevertheless, that we should not take any action which would prevent the people from deciding this very important question themselves, and that they be given reasonable opportunity to do so.

Therefore, I recommend that provision be made in the enabling legislation or by separate act for the submission to the qualified voters at the next state election, upon a petition therefor signed by not less than fifty thousand qualified voters on or before September fifteenth next ensuing, of the question whether or not the Commonwealth shall acquire the stock of the Boston and Maine now owned by the Holding Company. I put the number at fifty thousand because that is the number agreed upon after careful study by all parties interested in the constitutional amendment for the initiative and referendum now pending in the Legislature. As this important question has never been discussed or presented to the people in any campaign or election, the Legislature has no mandate from the people upon so vital a question, and I assume that it would not undertake the responsibility of submitting this question to them for decision without a formal request from a representative number of the electorate so to do.

I have considered suggesting to you the advisability of reserving to the Legislature or to the Governor the power of veto over any option or sale made by the liquidators, on the theory that though the liquidators were men of such character and ability as to guarantee the wisdom of their judgment, yet the state's interest is so vital that if possible any sale or option ought to be ratified by some representative of the state chosen by the people and thereby directly answerable to them. I am convinced, however, from investigation and inquiry made, that such legislation might defeat the entering of a decree embodying the terms of this agreement, since the United States Court would be placed in the position of being unable to exact obedience to its decree from its liquidators, who, of course, as its officers, are subject to its orders and responsible to it for misfeasance or malfeasance, and would thus deprive the court of the power of enforcing its own judgment in case the Legislature or the Governor of the State of Massachusetts objected thereto.

No more unfortunate legislation has been enacted in recent years in this Commonwealth than the law establishing the Boston Railroad Holding Company. The arrangement under which the union of these two roads was accomplished by the railroad holding company act had none of the virtues of consolidation and had all the evils of monopoly. It is doubtful whether or not the object of the railroad holding company act was not a violation of the Federal anti-trust law whose provisions the laws of Massachusetts could neither suspend nor nullify, and if so it could not withstand the assault of the Federal government, under the anti-trust law, upon the union which it attempts to maintain.

Although we should not throw away rights which the Commonwealth may have even under this act, yet we should bear in mind the fact that if any exist at all they exist under a law the validity of which is challenged by the national government and evil results of which to our New England community are admitted by all.

We must also bear in mind that the great accomplishment which is the condition precedent to any effective reform of the railroad situation is the overthrow of the New Haven Railroad's domination of the Boston and Maine, a domination that was followed from its very beginning by disaster to the northern New England railroad system and marked by an unprecedented decline of its dividends which uninterruptedly for more than seventy continuous years, had withstood the most trying periods of our national political, industrial and financial history.

This separation, this agreement, together with the necessary enabling legislation recommended herein, will effectually accomplish. It is the necessary first step of which several more must be taken hereafter before we shall feel safe from the dangers and difficulties of our transportation problems.

I need not remind the Legislature that the prosperity of Massachusetts is gravely threatened by the tottering condition of our railroads. The isolation of New England from the source of raw materials and the centre of population require the very best transportation service to compete with the rest of the country. To-day it is conceded that the service is inadequate and unsatisfactory. Not only have our business conditions suffered incalculable loss but the loss to our investors in railroad securities has been equally great. More than two hundred million dollars of value in railroad securities held in New England have disappeared in the disasters of the last few years of railroad mismanagement. Fifty-one per cent of the stockholders of our New England railroads are citizens of Massachusetts. We shall never know the individual sufferings and hardships which the shrinkage in value of railroad securities has caused to thousands of men, women and children in this Commonwealth who are bearing their losses silently but none the less grievously, and who confidently look to their government in this crisis, if not to reimburse them for what they have lost, at least to protect them from further losses. We would deny the railroads nothing which they really need for they are a part of our very existence.

By the agreement between the national government and the New Haven Railroad, which I recommend that we now make effective by the necessary legislation, we thus set the Boston and Maine free.

On the other hand, without the adjustment provided in this agreement the national government will be obliged to move against the two New England railroads under the anti-trust law and plunge us into chaotic legal, financial and general business conditions attendant upon prolonged litigation and the consequent business uncertainty. Even if the national government should remain quiescent, which is inconceivable, we must continue in the present impossible situation in which one overburdened railroad is left to mismanage another, with a continuance of the evils which have already followed this relationship.

Let this Legislature not only make effective the separation in the manner already provided for and described herein, but also give assistance to any honest plan for reorganization of the Boston and Maine which may be presented for its consideration. The necessity of the latter step can best be described by repeating the words of my inaugural:—

“a duty no less important and pressing rests also upon the owners of the securities of the Boston and Maine Railroad system, particularly upon the owners of the stocks of the leased lines. This great railroad system cannot be reorganized and rehabilitated so as adequately to serve the community in which it lies and do justice to all of its owners without immediate, intelligent, public spirited as well as self-interested action upon the part of all of its owners.

A radical and immediate reorganization of the whole system is absolutely essential. For, if through receiver-ship proceedings the system is disintegrated, the owners of the stocks of the leased lines will almost inevitably suffer serious loss; they will find it difficult, perhaps impossible, to protect and secure even the real and intrinsic value of their properties. The situation is very grave. It is a time when men cannot safely attempt to drive hard bargains or to stand too obstinately upon merely technical rights, or to adopt dilatory tactics. Both self-interest and public welfare call for co-operation and compromise; it is a time for construction. Both the holders of the stocks of the leased lines and the holders of the Boston and Maine stock must contribute to the solution of the problem; the necessary sacrifice must not all be made by the Boston and Maine stockholders. If we are not to have a great financial catastrophe in our New England railroads we must now—immediately—avert the danger by a reorganization which will re-establish the credit of the corporation, slough off the parasitic contracts which have been sapping the life-blood of the system, and provide hereafter for a management both faithful and competent.”

Two other railroad problems remain unsettled, namely, the disposition of the Berkshire trolleys and the refinancing of the New Haven Railroad. In order that next year's legislature which will have to deal with these problems may have all possible information available, I recommend that you request the Public Service Commission or some other body by your authorization to make a complete investigation and study of these subjects with the end in view that when legislation is asked the public interests may be safeguarded and protected.

DAVID I. WALSH.

The message (House, No. 2691) was read.

Mr. Ellis of Newton moved that the message, with the accompanying document, be referred to the committee on Railroads.

Mr. Robinson of Chelsea moved that so much of the message as relates to the disposition of the Berkshire trolleys be referred to the committee on Street Railways.

Mr. Tague of Boston moved that the further consideration of the message be postponed until to-morrow. After debate on this motion the yeas and nays were ordered, at the request of Mr. Tague; and the roll having been called the motion to postpone was negatived, by a vote of 101 yeas to 105 nays, as follows:—

tunnel.

The House Bill to authorize the Bay State Street Railway Company to construct a subway and tunnel in and between the cities of Boston and Chelsea (House, No. 2398) came down passed to be engrossed, in concurrence, with the following amendments:—

Striking out section 5 and inserting in place thereof the following new section: "SECTION 5. For the purpose of constructing the tunnels or subway and making any alterations therein or additions thereto authorized by the commission the company, to the extent authorized by the commission, may use public ways and lands in the city of Chelsea and in the city of Boston without compensation except as herein provided; but in the city of Boston no permanent structure shall be erected upon the surface in, and no openings for permanent entrances to or exits from said tunnels or subway shall be made in, any public street or way or in property now owned or occupied by the city. Upon the completion of that portion of the tunnels or subway within the territorial limits of the city of Boston and before the opening for use of such portion, the company, by a good and sufficient deed, shall convey the same free from all incumbrances to the city of Boston, and in consideration thereof and of an amount to be paid annually to said city by the company as taxes assessed by the assessors of said city on such portion, the company shall have the exclusive use of such portion for the term of forty years from the date of the opening for public use of such tunnels or subway. During said term of forty years the company shall not sell, mortgage or otherwise convey or assign or sublet its rights in that portion of the tunnels or subway within the limits of the city of Boston except upon approval by the public service commission after notice and a public hearing by said commission, and subject to terms and conditions prescribed by said commission. If at any time during said term the company for any reason shall abandon such portion, the public service commission, in the name and on behalf of the city of Boston, may take possession of the same and hold it for the use of said city or lease it for the benefit of said city upon terms and conditions approved by said commission after notice and a public hearing thereon;" and

Striking out section 6 and inserting in place thereof the following new section: "SECTION 6. Except as provided in the preceding section, whenever in the opinion of the public service commission any lands or other property of the company acquired for the purposes of this act cease to be needed for such purposes, the company may sell the same and sell or remove any buildings thereon, or lease any such lands, buildings or interests in lands or other property, and it may sell any surplus materials from excavations. The proceeds of such sales and leases, and the fair valuation of such lands or other property not sold, shall be taken into account so far as they seem applicable in determining the amount to be paid by the city of Chelsea to the company, as herein provided, for that portion of the tunnel or subway within the territorial limits of said city. At any time after the expiration of twenty-five years from the opening for use of said tunnels or subway, the city of Chelsea, after the submission of the question to the voters of said city at an annual election for city officers, may, if it is so voted, purchase that portion of the tunnels or subway within said city upon the payment of such a sum as shall be determined by the public service commission or by a special commission authorized by an act of the general court, and thereupon the fee in such portion shall vest in the city of Chelsea."

The rule was suspended, on motion of Mr. Bothfeld of Newton, and the amendments were considered forthwith; and they were adopted, in concurrence.

Messages from the Governor.

The following message from His Excellency the Governor was filed in the office of the Clerk after adjournment yesterday: —

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, June 2, 1914.

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives:

Veto, — improvements
at the Medfield
State Hospital.

I return herewith without my approval House Resolve 2607 entitled "A Resolve to provide for Certain Improvements at the Medfield State Hospital."

This resolve provides for an appropriation of $27,000 for constructing and furnishing a dispensary building at the Medfield State Hospital. In a message sent to the legislature this day, returning, without my approval, a resolve making appropriations for the Industrial School for Boys, I have stated at some length my general views upon the inadvisability of appropriations of this character this year unless the urgency and immediate necessity are made to appear.

I believe the time is at hand before authorizing the expenditure of large sums of money for additional buildings and equipment, to have a survey made of the various institutions for the insane of the Commonwealth for the purpose of establishing accurate knowledge as to the capacity and general condition of each institution having in mind that they are not independent, separate enterprises of the state but parts of one great organization all inter-related and each to be managed and enlarged and equipped as a part of the general plan.

I am not convinced of the need of an expensive and elaborately equipped surgical dispensary in each insane institution of the state. The thirteen institutions for the insane conducted by the state are so located throughout the Commonwealth that a large number of them are easily accessible to each other, and if a general plan and scheme were worked out such advantages as a surgical dispensary and hospital for contagious diseases could be established in one institution which could accommodate the patients from institutions within a limited radius, and thus save the expense of special equipment for each institution. Assuming that the twelve other institutions would require a surgical dispensary the total expense to the state for equipping its institutions for insane with such a department would amount, in view of the appropriations as provided for in this bill, to over $350,000.

Furthermore, there is legislation now pending for a reorganization of institutions for the insane and for a central administrative organization, and the Commission on Economy and Efficiency has recommended that no appropriations be made, for further enlargement or extension of the institutions until some action is taken providing for a central management.

DAVID I. WALSH.

The message (House, No. 2699) was read; and, pending the question "Shall the resolve pass, notwithstanding the objections of His Excellency the Governor?" the further consideration thereof was postponed until Monday next, second in the orders of the day, on motion of Mr. Greenwood of Everett.

The following message from His Excellency the Governor was filed in the office of the Clerk after adjournment yesterday:—

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, June 2, 1914.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill 2610, which is a bill appropriating $116,500 for certain new buildings and improvements at the Industrial School for Boys. The form of this bill emphasizes the necessity pointed out in my inaugural address, that a constitutional provision should be made giving the Governor the power to veto specific items in an appropriation bill. The items in this appropriation bill are as follows:

For central building providing chapel, school rooms, central offices, fireproof vault and assembling and exercising room, a sum not exceeding nine thousand dollars;

Veto,— improvements
at the Industrial School for Boys.

For heating, furnishing and equipping a cottage for thirty boys, now under construction, a sum not exceeding three thousand dollars;

For one cottage for thirty boys and attendants, to be constructed by the institution, and for furnishing, heating and equipping the same, including water, sewerage and sidewalk connection, a sum not exceeding twenty-two thousand dollars; and

For moving, relocating and making repairs on large hay barn, a sum not exceeding one thousand five hundred and fifty dollars.

If the Governor was vested with the power to approve certain and veto other items of appropriation bills, I would in this instance approve the appropriation of the item of three thousand dollars for heating, furnishing and equipping a cottage for thirty boys, now under construction, and the item of one thousand five hundred and fifty dollars for moving, relocating and making repairs on large hay barn, both of which are necessary. I am compelled to veto the entire bill upon the principal items, — namely those of $112,000 for new buildings, — because I am not satisfied that the work of this institution cannot be carried on satisfactorily without this expenditure. In other words, I am not convinced of the urgency of this appropriation at this time.

In this connection, I suggest that a very serious problem is rapidly arising in this Commonwealth, — namely, the steady and continuous increase in the expense of maintenance of correctional and charitable institutions. I believe that the Commonwealth can be relieved of a substantial financial burden if the probation system is more widely used and extended. The Commonwealth could be relieved of some of the expense of these institutions by lessening in many cases the term of persons committed. The tendency to keep, when once committed to the institution, inmates for a long period of time should be encouraged only in exceptional cases. After a short detention many could be given their freedom and a further opportunity to reform at their own homes under surveillance through strict probation.

I propose, during the present year, for reasons hereinbefore set forth, and because of the general financial condition of the Commonwealth, to withhold executive approval from measures providing for the erection of new buildings and other improvements unless it is made absolutely clear that provision for such extension work must be made at once.

In considering appropriations for new buildings and the enlargement of our institutions, the state must approach the problem as the individual is compelled to do. The whole field of the state's work should be studied, and only such improvements and enlargements made as are absolutely necessary, having in mind not so much the wishes and desires of the individual management of a single institution as the result upon the whole state.

One of the results of having our institutional management vested in separate boards of trustees is that these officials, through their desire to extend the work of their institutions, are prone to consider solely the problem of their respective institutions rather than the state wide financial and managerial questions involved.

The Legislature must consider the general institutional and financial problems of the Commonwealth rather than the mere appropriating of money that may add to the beauty, attractiveness and usefulness of each separate institution.

This veto message provides an opportunity at this time for analyzing certain figures which have been prepared at my request by the Auditor's department in reference to the probable state tax this year. Though the figures do not show that this Legislature has been reckless or indifferent to the financial situation of the state, yet they do indicate that there is occasion for the exercise of very great caution in the consideration of all appropriation bills during the remaining days of this session.

The total appropriations made in the year 1913 amounted to $18,147,000.45. Of this amount $1,629,677.05 were what are termed special appropriations for new buildings and equipment at the various state institutions, and $414,943.07 for other special purposes. It will thus be seen that the Legislature of 1914 commenced its work this year with the necessity of appropriating, in order to give the same kind of maintenance for the departments of the state as in the previous year, the sum of $16,102,380.33. In addition the Legislature of 1913 and previous Legislatures passed legislative acts necessitating a further appropriation over which this Legislature had no control except to supply the necessary funds, of $814,074.53. Of this sum $337,617.64 is necessitated by the increased sinking funds, serial bonds and interest requirements. The appropriations made by the present Legislature to June 1st amounted to $17,801,706.93. One of the largest items among the new appropriations of this year is $103,862.83 for subsidies to cities and towns for consumptive hospitals. Although this item will increase the appropriations of the Legislature of this year, it must be borne in mind that it will correspondingly decrease the tax obligation of those cities and towns which have consumptive hospitals.

These figures indicate that the greatest care must be exercised in passing upon all special appropriation bills for the present year. Appropriations for buildings for new institutions should be most carefully scrutinized, and only when absolute necessity demands an immediate enlargement should your approval be given.

DAVID I. WALSH.

The message (House, No. 2700) was read; and, pending the question "Shall the resolve pass, notwithstanding the objections of His Excellency the Governor?" the further consideration thereof was postponed until Tuesday next, third in the orders of the day, on motion of Mr. Greenwood of Everett.

The following message from His Excellency the Governor was filed in the office of the Clerk after adjournment yesterday: —

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, June 2, 1914.

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives:

I return, without my approval, House Resolve 2608, entitled "To Provide for Certain Improvements at the Lyman School for Boys."

The resolve provides for an appropriation of $26,950 for improvements at the Lyman School for Boys, and is made up of the following items:

For milk-house and creamery building, a sum not exceeding $1,800; for a new cottage for thirty boys, attendants, and for heating, furnishing and equipping the same, a sum not exceeding $22,000; for extension and repair of cow barn, a sum not exceeding $1,850; and for additional equipment for printing shop and dairy a sum not exceeding $1,300.

As I have pointed out in a veto message disapproving a resolve making an appropriation for the Industrial School for Boys, sent to the House of Representatives this day, the need is clearly apparent that the Constitution should be so amended that the Governor might have the power to veto specific items of an appropriation bill, and in this instance, if the constitution permitted, the items providing for a milk-house and creamery building, for the extension and repair of cow barn, and for additional equipment for printing shop and dairy might be approved. I withhold my approval of the resolve because I am not convinced of the urgency or necessity of making provision at this time for the building of a new cottage and for heating, furnishing and equipping the same, for which an appropriation of $22,000 is made.

It is not necessary that I should review in this message the reasons for my action which have been communicated to you in detail in the message disapproving of the appropriations for the Industrial School for Boys above referred to and which is to be filed simultaneously with this message.

DAVID I. WALSH.

The message (House, No. 2701) was read; and, pending the question "Shall the resolve pass, notwithstanding the objections of His Excellency the Governor?" the further consideration thereof was postponed until Wednesday next, first in the orders of the day, on motion of Mr. Greenwood of Everett.

Messages from the Governor.

The following message was received from His Excellency the Governor: —

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, June 10, 1914.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

I return herewith without my approval House Resolve No. 2110, — "In Favor of the Widow of Nathan Dexter Pratt." Veto, — widow of Nathan
Dexter
Pratt.

This bill provides for the payment to the widow of a former Justice of the Superior Court of the Commonwealth of the salary to which he would have been entitled had he lived to the end of the current fiscal year. The amount which this resolve would withdraw from the public treasury for this purpose is $7,010.76.

In my judgment the practice of paying to widows or next of kin the balance of the salaries of certain individual employees of the Commonwealth who die during the term of their offices, is indefensible.

If the practice is sound in this and other cases, a general law should be enacted providing for such a gratuity at the death of every employee of the Commonwealth. No sound distinction can be made between a gratuity of this kind to the widow of a Justice of the Superior Court and a gratuity to the widow of the humblest laborer in the Commonwealth. In fact, stronger reasons may be urged why dependents of those State employees who receive small salaries should be given a gratuity similar to the one provided in this bill.

The Commonwealth deals generously with the Justices of our courts. They are given from two to three months' vacation each year; their tenure of office is for life; they are paid their full salaries during times of illness, no matter how long they are absent from their duties; and a liberal pension is provided for them after reaching the age limit fixed in the pension laws.

Legislation of this kind will lead eventually to determining whether or not we should extend the liberality and generosity of the Commonwealth by providing a gratuity in all cases for Justices of the Superior Court who die in office.

Such a policy, however, means that the same generosity should be extended to the Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court, of the probate court, of municipal, district and police courts. Such action on the part of the Legislature toward the judicial department would justify the extension of the same generosity toward all officials of the executive and legislative departments of the State government. Indeed, thousands of clerks and employees in the various departments and institutions of the State would by like reasoning urge their claims for similar treatment. And the adoption of a general policy would result in the yearly appropriation of an enormous sum to meet such gratuities.

While legislation of this kind appeals forcibly to our sympathies, we must not lose sight of the fact that the extension of this practice will result in imposing upon the men and women who pay the tax bills additional obligations not contemplated in their employment of public servants.

Money raised by taxation should be strictly limited to payment for services rendered to the public, and payment for such services ought to end upon the death of a public servant. A payment to the widow or next of kin of an employee of the State cannot be justified because it is a pure gift to the receiver. It is not only placing an unjustified burden upon the taxpayers, but is requiring the State to assume an obligation which no other employer does or can be expected to assume.

The fact that in the past certain bills of this kind have been passed is not a sound argument for continuing this policy. In fact the State has not established such a policy. If this bill is enacted, it is not at all improbable that next year similar requests may be made in behalf of relatives of other Justices of this court who have died in recent years and whose dependents have not received such gratuities.

Further, the language of the Supreme Judicial Court, in 175 Massachusetts Reports, would seem to indicate that legislation of this character is unconstitutional unless the gratuity provided for is given as a reward for conspicuous public service, — and not a reward merely incident or collateral to the relief of a private citizen.

I am therefore of the opinion that neither as a matter of policy nor as a matter of constitutional law can this legislation be approved.

DAVID I. WALSH.

The message (House, No. 2726) was read; and, pending the question "Shall the resolve pass, notwithstanding the objections of His Excellency the Governor?" the further consideration thereof was postponed until to-morrow, on motion of Mr. Smith of Somerville.

The following message was received from His Excellency the Governor: —

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, June 10, 1914.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

I return herewith without my approval House Resolve 2644, "in favor of the widow of John Joseph Flaherty." Veto, — widow of John Joseph Flaherty.

This resolve provides for the payment of a sum of twenty-three hundred six dollars and forty-six cents, the unpaid balance of the salary for the fiscal year in which he died to Mabel E. Flaherty, widow of John Joseph Flaherty, a Justice of the Superior Court, who died July 23, 1906.

As I have pointed out in a message sent to your honorable bodies this day returning without my approval a similar resolve in favor of the widow of Nathan Dexter Pratt, I am convinced that the provisions of this resolve are not supported by sound, public policy, nor even by constitutional authority. In that message I have stated my views at some length in connection with this matter and I do not need here to repeat in detail conclusions on which my action is based.

DAVID I. WALSH.

The message (House, No. 2727) was read; and, pending the question "Shall the resolve pass, notwithstanding the objections of His Excellency the Governor?" the further consideration thereof was postponed until to-morrow, on further motion of Mr. Smith of Somerville.

Messages from the Governor.

The following message from His Excellency the Governor was filed in the office of the Clerk on Saturday last: —

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, June 13, 1914.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill 2059, "An act relative to the establishment of a hospital for cases of delirium tremens and like diseases."

Veto, — hospital for cases of delirium tremens and like diseases.

Though the amount to be appropriated in this act is comparatively small, yet the steps required to be taken under the act commit the Commonwealth to the establishment and maintenance of an institution which may result in an expenditure in the very near future of hundreds of thousands of dollars.

I am in sympathy with the purposes of this bill and I have no objection to authorizing the board of trustees of the Norfolk State Hospital to make such study and observations as would lead to the establishment of an institution for the extension of the work of the Norfolk State Hospital if such action, after thorough examination, is deemed advisable. I do object to the securing of options on land or taking any positive steps which would commit the state to an expenditure of money until a thorough examination of the question has been made by this board or the Commission on Economy and Efficiency and a general plan or scheme mapped out which will indicate at once the probable ultimate expense for the establishment and equipment of such an institution.

It is not sound business policy for the Commonwealth to secure options on land and lay out the lines for future expenditure without having before the legislature a definite plan of the number, kinds of buildings and expense of same, the cost of maintenance and the other facts which are necessary for legislative action before committing the Commonwealth to a work fraught with such great possibilities of expense.

DAVID I. WALSH.

The message (House, No. 2740) was read; and, pending the question "Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of His Excellency the Governor?" the further consideration thereof was postponed until to-morrow, third in the orders of the day, on motion of Mr. Greenwood of Everett.

The following message from His Excellency the Governor was filed in the office of the Clerk on Saturday last: —

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, June 13, 1914.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

Veto, —
buildings and improvements at the Wrentham
State School.

I return herewith without my approval House Resolve 2603 "to provide for the construction of buildings and certain improvements at the Wrentham State School."

The legislature of 1912 appropriated $155,100.00 for construction of buildings at this institution, and the legislature of last year appropriated $292,500.00 for like purposes.

This resolve provides for an appropriation of $153,000 for additional buildings and improvements. The buildings provided for in the appropriation of last year are yet unfinished, and it seems to me therefore extremely unwise to sanction any further appropriations for the construction of buildings for this institution until such times as the work now in process of erection is completed.

The number of patients at the Wrentham State School at the end of the fiscal year, 1913, was 441, and at the present time this institution has a working capacity of 580 patients. The buildings now under construction will provide for the accommodation of 345 patients. At the close of the present fiscal year this institution will have accommodations for 925 patients which is an increase over the number of the institution at the close of the fiscal year of 1913 of 112 per cent.

In view of these figures, I am of the opinion that the needs of this institution will be adequately provided for until such time as a careful survey has been made of the entire problem of housing of the afflicted persons who are entrusted to the care of the Commonwealth.

I repeat, no further request for appropriation for this institution should be countenanced until such time as a careful analytical survey is made and a broad, intelligent, comprehensive, co-ordinate plan has been submitted for the proper classification and care of the afflicted persons, having in mind humanitarian considerations and efficient administration.

In vetoing this bill, I am not unmindful of the serious problem which confronts the Commonwealth in providing for the proper care and housing of the feeble-minded. Though sufficient study has been given to the subject to indicate clearly the size of the problem and its urgency, yet so far as it can be learned no general survey has been made relative to the best means to be adopted by the Commonwealth in handling this work. From such study as has been made in recent months by the State Commission on Economy and Efficiency it appears that the Commonwealth has been very derelict in applying proper attention to the matter pertaining to the many deportable cases in the care of our institutions. The Commonwealth has also for years been boarding patients from other states of the type which this school provides for.

I therefore recommend that no further appropriations be made for this institution until the buildings now in process of construction are completed and until the State Commission on Economy and Efficiency has submitted to the legislature a definite plan for the future care of this class of state wards.

DAVID I. WALSH.

The message (House, No. 2741) was read; and, pending the question "Shall the resolve pass, notwithstanding the objections of His Excellency the Governor?" the further consideration thereof was postponed until Thursday next, second in the orders of the day, on motion of Mr. Greenwood of Everett.

Pending the recurring question Mr. White of Newton moved that the amendment inserting a new section 17 be amended by adding at the end thereof the words "nor to city or town institutions, hospitals, or religious or charitable institutions incorporated under the laws of this Commonwealth."

After debate, the previous question having been ordered, on motion of Mr. Haines of Medford, the amendment of the amendment was adopted.

On the main question the yeas and nays were ordered, at the request of Mr. McNerney; and the roll having been called the House refused to concur with the Senate in its amendments, as amended.

The vote was 105 yeas to 105 nays, as follows:—
